For more than two decades, the Building Supply Industry Association of British Columbia has sponsored a benefit program that allows BSIA members the opportunity to purchase group insurance protection for employees and their families.

The BSIA benefit program currently has participating members ranging from independent retail operations to large manufacturers and suppliers. Together, they enjoy the cost advantages and price stability of a larger combined group, while retaining the flexibility to choose their own plan design.

Schmunk Gatt Smith & Associates, a local independent benefit consulting firm, providing BSIA member companies with professional advice and support regarding employee benefit issues and emerging market trends.

As an association, we can tailor a benefit program providing an 'apples to apples' comparison with your current plan to best match your human resource needs and budgetary objectives.

In today's competitive business environment, every possible advantage is important to attract and retain valuable employees.
